Whilst working at Wilkinson I began to move up in the company, going from a Saturday cashier to a full time customer service assistant. I took on a number of different roles within the company. I worked as head of the in-store Wilkinson Plus online order point – This involved making orders online for customers and contacting them when their items were in store. I then became an assistant till supervisor where I had to keep a team of people under control during the working day – Tasks included maintaining money in the tills, Sticking to a strict schedule of breaks, lunches and shift changes, additionally dealing with customer service issues. I also worked on the promotional team,
